About This Game

Lifeliqe VR Museum brings Lifeliqe's interactive learning experiences into VR for the first time!

Learn about a cell, join ancient dinosaurs for a walk, or visit a prehistoric settlement that dates back to the seventh millennium B.C.

These immersive learning experiences empower students to spark light bulb moments. By visualizing scientific concepts and environments that would be otherwise inaccessible, learners can boost their curiosity and learning passion. Lifeliqe is an engaging learning world that learners will love and adults will wish they could have in schools when they were kids.

Solar Gun is an FPS puzzle game with some shooting mechanics.

You know what this means...

it takes a lot of inspiration from Portal and various other indie puzzle games, both in world design, art style and puzzle design. There are some visuals from 2001: A Space Odyssey for some reason. Using monolith imagery should make some kind of sense, otherwise it's just a reference that doesn't mean anything.

The puzzles are typical, not exactly mind blowing, but they keep you occupied for a few minutes/hours. The environments aren't quite illogical, but the attempt at worldbuilding is commendable.. This game is in beta but there is NO player base and its basically a camp on objective and wait for the other team to begin capture then just pick them off. one grenade will do it as there is nobody playing this game. 3 maps....one for each person that was suckered into buying this.. honestly, i am super impressed. this is a fantastic, story rich example of what a HOG should be. I even love that you can turn off the HOG option in the menu in case it starts to get tedious. the story is very well told and very well paced. There's a lot of great atmosphere and intrigue and it leaves you wanting to know more. count me in for part 2, if it ever gets released, haha!. When I first got the game opened it up and played for awile, after that found factorio wish I got that. Factorio looks like a much bigger game and more complex. This is a small game in need of help. The game is boring and too small to not be in full release. It need more factors like mulit player with quick combat. Like you would build a factory like that but have it faster pasted and have weapones to attack and defend. Should only be $5 not good enough for $10 well not even $5 should be free because its so small.. Around ten minutes of gameplay and I am both impressed yet\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665off by this remake which is well know for it's beautiful graphics for 16bit and 32bit consles, the puzzles were good, the difficulty was fair (Even if you put it on hard mode) and the layout of the levels were quite fine and easy to navigate.

This game however pisses on some of those features while being impressive in diffirent ways. Difficulty is toned down; for example a simple elevator puzzle near the beginning; there were two triggers per floor; one to move the elevator to allow you to go up while forcing you to jump over the one between that and the elevator to set you back a little, did they really need to dumb that puzzle down? No they did not. Puzzles are dumbed down and the level design feels rushed.

I like the gun aiming system (Use a mouse, not a joypad for that) but then the tasks that require you to do it do not require thought as the solution is shoved into your face thinking you are lacking a brain. Graphics are quite nice but the background could have used more work but then again, level design feels rushed but I do like how the new conrad looks.

I'm going to be honest here; the game is flawed yet enjoyable, but I don't reccomend it because it's my review and I hate it when a reboot\remake dumbsdown simple puzzles and rushes level design to a mess that looks cramped as hell; leveling up is a stupid mistake seieng as the original game was intended for puzzle\survival than being combat-based; I stil lreccomendd it if you want a good platformer that feels new\original that doesn't involve mario or any indie developers at all but if you want a real challenge; go play the original.

Update: The 1993 edition is god awful, it's not the original Flashback at all; just some rushed recreation of the dos game with no music\sound at all and awkwardly placed controls you can't map. To make the recreation worse; they have it look like you are playing it on an arcade machine powered on outside in the rain with an effect to make it look like an outdated arcade machine (Thank god the 1993 edition is free).. Ok I guess. It doesn't work with a multiple monitor setup. I have two monitors, my main and one to the right and no matter what i do i can't just get both of them to be there own background.I can have 1 of them have a wallpaper, or have a really crapy looking combined version which i dont want, and it was working fine the other day so i dont know what happened. I know 3 bucks isnt a lot of money, but like if i buy something, i kindof want it to work, especially when i am paying for the most mundane thing ever, like a background, Come on .. if you're using a controller you can only use left and right to cycle through options and in the first minute of the first level i got several pop up tutorials, one almost every time i moved.

buy this game. I got 5,000 achievements in 30 minutes. Just spammed the Spacebar and Enter buttons at the same time. Hello, my childhood. This was the first one I ever played, and darned if it doesn't take me right back. Still a blast as an adult, and I'm not ashamed to say it, either. Will we make it back to earth? Of course we will, but right after I finish making new aliens, mmk?. Pretty Pood Graphics. It's got me interested in this type of style of games.. I'm going to come right out and say it. This game has a bad wrap on Metacritic. The controls are NOT terrible as mentioned simply turn up the sensitivity on your mouse and use the wsad keys and it is easy as pie to control. The game play reminds me alot of a modern day River Raid tied in with Alien Storm and it's ilk. Quick to pick up, easy to play, difficult to master, the game has an interesting play style that is quite addicting. The story line is rather lame and transparent but the game itself is well worth the $1.24 I paid for it on sale. I actually will be purchasing the 4 pack to give away to friends! Fun little title.. Great. My 5y old son loves Danko. No timer, no cruelty and forgiving approach where even a kid can restart the map. More games like please!. Epic game, just4fun. Buy cheap, play in free time when you want just to relax.
